We’ve Entered a New Phase; Why This Shift Is Unavoidable

Dr David Clements,
Guy Lawrence

We've Entered a New Phase; Why This Shift Is Unavoidable - David Clements

https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=CQKR94HpEf8 62m 1-1-2026

FREE HEART Guide: 👉 👉 https://www.liveinflow.com.au/link.ph... Our In-Person Retreats: https://www.liveinflow.com.au/link.ph... Mentoring & Courses: 👉 👉 https://www.liveinflow.com.au/link.ph... BioGeometry Australia: https://live-in-flow.myshopify.com/

Earlier Show: Cambridge Physicist CONFIRMS the Ascension Shift - What's Really Changing on Earth Right Now! 63m Aug 5, 2025

Instagrams: / guyhlawrence / live.in.flow

Timestamps

[00:00:00] A New Energetic Phase Is Now Underway — David Clements Explains What Changed
[00:00:46] Welcoming David Clements
[00:02:58] David's Insights on Current Events
[00:03:36] The Role of Advanced Beings
[00:07:36] Energetic Waves and Their Impact
[00:08:54] Inner Earth Beings and Earth's Core
[00:12:00] The Solar System's Energetic Transformation
[00:14:52] Heart Intelligence vs. Mind Intelligence

[00:21:39] Practical Advice for Embracing Change
[00:33:22] Overcoming Triggers and Embracing Heart-Centered Living
[00:34:12] The State of the World and Human Consciousness
[00:35:01] Understanding Darkness and Source Intelligence
[00:37:25] The Shift to Heart-Centered Civilization
[00:45:03] Manifestation and Emanation
[00:50:56] Connecting with Higher Self and Energetic Beings
[00:56:52] Bridging Science and Spirituality
[01:00:10] Conclusion and Resources

In my early days, I began as an artist, spending most of my time dreaming and imagining beyond the reality I was living in. Which later, after a door inside me opened and allowed me to develop a deep intuitive insight into the conscious quantum nature of reality. But before this fully opened, I was propelled into, and became, a professional theoretical physicist, working in string theory (a theory of subatomic particles and multi-dimensional spaces) as well as advanced theories of electromagnetism in some of the world's leading and prestigious academic institutions such as Cambridge and Oxford Universities. I left this profession because the opening within had revealed to me a very different view of the living conscious nature of quantum reality, a far distance from the mathematical and structured world I had learnt to work in. My conscious awakening, and connection with the higher aspects of myself began just after the year 2000, when I learned to view remotely. From here, my intuition and energetic senses came alive in ways I never before imagined possible. From here, I began a deep journey, moving into, and becoming more heart centered. Unravelling the many layers of past and current life aspects within myself to gain more connection to the Creative Source field consciousness of love and my whole Self. In doing so, I was given deeper insights into the workings of realities, as well as inspirations for innovations and ideas, that it is my heart felt joy to share with others. In this episode, Guy welcomes back former theoretical physicist David Clements who now bridges consciousness, science, and the spiritual realm. They discuss the ongoing powerful evolutionary waves that started on December 4th and are designed to uplift planetary systems including our solar system. David shared detailed insights into the Arcturian and Inner Earth beings facilitating these changes and emphasizes the importance of connecting with one's heart intelligence. They explore practical aspects of maintaining high energy levels, the eventual collapse of outdated systems, and the broader cosmic implications of these shifts. The discussion also touches on his personal journey from a scientific to a spiritual perspective, and how humanity can best prepare for and embrace these transformative times.

Dr. David Clements' websites: https://infinitesourcecreations.com/, https://www.isee-infynergy.com/ Here is a link to David's meditations:

www.patreon.com/InfiniteSourceCreations

A New Energetic Phase Is Now Underway — David Clements Explains What Changed

David: These are designed to really accelerate the upliftment of planetary systems, the solar systems, and life on them as well. These waves have started as of the 4th of December. They are now current and running, and it's going to get stronger and stronger and stronger. You will see things that your mind is not privy to. We are literally seeing millennia upon millennia of old stagnant energy that has been stuck within the Earth body itself within us as human beings, it's all being cleared out now. Those systems are going to fall down. It's just an inevitability.

Welcoming David Clements

Guy: Hello, beautiful souls. Guy here, my awesome guest and welcome back to the podcast David Clements, who is a former theoretical physicist. There we go. I get the words out. And now, bridges, consciousness and Science and Spiritual Realm. And this podcast, if you're a fan of David, it's goes as deep as this ever as it can get. We discuss things that are happening on the planet right now, some radical ideas. But hey, on this podcast, it's great to explore all people's perspectives and David's an extremely intelligent man and I certainly listen intently when he shares and to get his point of view. Anyway, be sure to let me know what you think is actually happening on the planet right now. I don’t know. I feel like something's going on for sure. So anyway, yes, let me know where you are in the world as well.

David, welcome back to the podcast, my man. So good to have you back.

David: Yes, thank you for having me back. I've been looking forward to this and hello to your audience as well.

Guy: You know, and you do something that always happens on the podcast or before the podcast starts, is that we get into a conversation and then you start telling me what's current for you? And I'm like, oh my gosh, this has got to be recorded. Let's do this. So here we are. So let's go there Let's just dive straight in.

David's Insights on Current Events

The one thing you said to me off air was we are at a critical time right now on the calendar and I'd love you to share what you were saying and why you feel that is, and to help our listeners start to connect the dots in their own lives as well. I think it'd be really, really good to do that.

The Role of Advanced Beings

David: Yes. Well maybe I should begin where in the pre-discussion I was telling you how much of this information began. So in the beginning, I know there's a lot of interest in 3I Atlas or I should say a there's a massive amount of interest in it.

And when I initially checked in my teams that I connect with, which are Arcturian in nature and other evolved beings, and it's funny because they don't like to use the word evolved because they consider them themselves the same. We're Source Intelligence. They very much encourage people to see each other on a similar level. I use that word just to kind of describe them to your audience because to me they are, they are just beautiful emanations of Source Intelligence. They have a very advanced living energy technology. So it's just a word that sort of describes a little bit of quality about them. So I asked them do you have any perspective or information you can offer on that object? And this is a few months back. I can't remember the exact date, but they were saying, would you allow yourself to see the unfolding of what happens rather than having too much sort of front loaded information about what is and what is not. I said, okay, that's a cool answer. Okay, I could roll with that. And so I never did anything more with it and just carried on with what I was doing.

Then sometime later I was having a discussion with a, another interviewer and they asked me, so I've had a lot of guests on and I've done a lot of asking about what people's perspectives on this object is and they're very different. So what's your take on it? And I said, well. I did ask before, and that's the answer I got. So let's check again, see if they have any more information they want to offer. Now what happened was my perspective got taken from what I thought was going to be more information about that object.

And they started off by saying, well, there are several objects like this in the solar system that is not the only one. And then they took me to, or showed me, because they were really excited to show this next step to me. And they showed me a number of enormous vessels and when I saw them, I thought, they seem pretty big to me. Can you give me an idea or a gauge of size of how big these vessels are? And they said they're roughly one 80th the size of the moon.

So these are massive vessels and the groups that operate, to coin a phrase. I don't know if that's the right way of calling it that operate these vessels, the Arcturians and other beings of that kind of level, and caliber and quality, if you like.

And what they were showing me was they were placed around the solar system and there are a number of different things they were doing. Now, first of all, they were showing me these non-material beams that were literally focal pointing it on the Sun, and they were coming in from all these directions. I didn't get a gauge of how many there are. They didn't tell me that, but my sense was there were a lot of these vessels around and they were modulating and getting and preparing the Sun energetically to emit these non-material, and I asked them, would there be CMEs or Coronal Mass Ejections, material plasmas being blown off the surface of the Sun which we get all the time, CMEs coronal, mass ejection.

So yes, so that's a term. So when the Sun generally when you get Sun spots usually has the activity of CMEs, which are huge rifts of plasma that get blown off the surface of the Sun. And they, some of them head towards us. And the Aurora Borealis that you can see, the Northern lights when that highly charged plasma hits parts of the atmosphere, it lights it up with those beautiful colors. So they are the result of CMEs essentially. So they said that would be part of it.

Energetic Waves and Their Impact

But the main aspect of this were the non-material waves, all I could describe as multidimensional energetics that were being emanated from the star things were being really reshaped. And they said these waves were going to begin on the 4th of December. So they've already begun. And it was quite amazing because I was kind of, sort of warmly anticipating what might be happening on the 4th of December.

And I did a live stream on the seventh and I asked my audience, so did anybody feel anything because when I woke up on the fourth. The energy was really high. It was really elevated. It was quite palpable. And I thought, wow, and I checked in with my teams and they said, these are the waves. This is the initial front of the waves coming through and this is what you can feel. So I asked my audience, just out of interest, did anybody else feel that too? And everyone's going, yes, yes. We all felt there's like this match of huge up rush of energy. And I thought that's really cool, because they were all over the world on the live stream. And so anyway, so coming back to the main thread I was on is, so these waves have started and these are very powerful evolutionary waves. These are designed to really accelerate the upliftment of planetary systems, the solar systems and life on them as well. Now there's more to this, so there's two other parts to this as well. So this is quite a big subject.
Guy: Yes. Go, go.

Inner Earth Beings and Earth's Core

David: Sure, no worries. I'd also been sort of having discussions that a very deep group of Inner Earth beings that had connected with me. They're very tall. They're much taller than us. Physically speaking, I don't have a size, but my guesstimate is around two and a half times the size of a normal human being. That could be wrong, but that was just my perception of when I had connection with them. But they were quite big. So I met a male and a female representative. And they showed me many different things, but in particular, this, what I can only describe as a living energetic starlike system at the center of the Earth, which from my understanding of what they explained to me was the core consciousness of what we call the Earth, the Earth being Gaia or the Earth consciousness itself. And they have such great reverence for this feminine emanation that comes from the core of the Earth. And I got the impression that they are there to act as kind of guardians, if you like, to whole energetics, to work with that core intelligence and were doing amazing things.

There's so much more to learn from these beings. But they said that they are preparing people on the surface very gently to begin the process so that eventually to have actual face-to-face connection with people because they consider us, what you might call surface dwellers or surface walkers to be their brothers and sisters in a way. They don't consider us to be oh, they're just them up there. You know, they are really looking to help us uplift our consciousness and expand and reconnect back to our Source Intelligence. It's a very big thing. So there's that aspect and what they were saying is, and this was maybe somewhere in the region of two to three months ago when I first had this connection. And they were showing me what was happening. These, these pulses were coming off the center star and they were pulsing towards the surface and like the emanations from the Sun, these would come up from the core of the Earth and they would meet and they would be this synergizing between them. And we on the, as the surface population would feel and experience directly. The result of those energetics as they are now, and they, they're on now. So as, as of the 4th of December, they are now current and running and it's going to get stronger and stronger and stronger. And it's all modulated in a way. And the way they described it was is these pulses would sort of step up. They would sort of. Settle and then they'd wait for people to integrate, balance and get stable with it, and then they'd step up again, and then they'd settle. And so there'd be this sort of sequential stepping up of this energetic, so to speak.

The Solar System's Energetic Transformation

And so that has started. But furthermore, the third part of this is that these vessels, when I was connecting with my teams was saying that there is a ginormous membrane like bubble energetic bubble that was formed, that had been formed around the solar system. And they were changing the conditions because it's not just our planet that's going through this. They were describing that all planets within our solar system were going to experience this upgrading energetically within the planetary bodies themselves.

They said there is almost like a, what you might consider an ancient connection system between the planetary bodies that's going to result because of this, which is now coming back into active fruition, if you want to call it that. But inside this bubble, inside this solar system bubble, they're gently raising and changing the energetics of the spatial system within the bubble. So that essentially instead of being a stellar nursery in the solar system where all and sundry can come in and do all sorts of weird things, it's going to be a such a heightened energy that, as they described it to me, it would be ultra difficult, if not impossible for a being to come in with very negative intentions or destructive intentions to be present in the solar system because the energetic environment was being changed to be something which is far beyond the scope of that and therefore not compatible.

So the beauty of this is, and you mentioned in the pre-discussion that you always love to give people something very positive. To me, this is a massive, massive positive assist that we're getting right now, and it's already started and it's happening right now. And so I don't know if you have any questions on that, but I'm sure you have..
Guy: First of all, it's pretty wild. Like first of all, the listeners, I have no doubt anyone listening to this is well down the rabbit hole and probably understands frequency energetics and how they affect us and so forth. But there'll be a body of people probably curious to say, well, how is this happening? What, why are they doing it? Like, what are the consequences of this long term? And so what's up?
David: Yes.
Guy: And the other thing is. if it's happening right now, is this over a lifetime span? Is this something that's permanent? Is this something that's going to accelerate in the next year or two? Like have you been given insight to that?
David: Yes. So yes, the few questions I'd like to answer in there and first of all, coming to your question about why are they doing this now, the teams that I work with have an incredibly advanced and evolved connection with their Source core intelligence which is in the heart field system. So the heart intelligence itself is everybody's privy and knows about mental IQ and all that kind of stuff, and most people when they're born, start to engage with or actively use their intellect, if you like. And you know, from my background, that's what I did. I was a theoretical physicist and it was all intellectual for quite some time until I had my sort of like kick up their rear end in awakening moment and the Arcturians have let me just call, I don't like the word technologies, but let's just call it that because that's what people are familiar with. They have such advanced living energy technologies that are revered throughout this galaxy.

Heart Intelligence vs. Mind Intelligence

That's how advanced they are. And I think I may have said this before in a previous interview with you, but one of the things they said to me when I was building a coil system, they were helping me to understand how to build. And I was getting a bit frustrated because I felt like the energy wasn't kept getting stuck. And they said, look you're going to understand that there is a big difference, a world of difference between living from your heart intelligence and trying to operate from your mind intelligence. And this is coming from the Arcturians. These, like I said, their level of tech and evolution is really off the charts and that is what they were saying.

And that really stopped me and I thought, I see it now. So, and they were saying, look, when you learn to anchor into it and connect into your heart intelligence, and that's not just a wishy-washy word, you really do have hard intelligence. And the fields within them are profound. It's just that we've never used them before, connected with them in the way that we're supposed to, and so we just think that everything's just an intellectual exercise to dissect, get information, knowledge, and et cetera.

What they were saying is no, it's actually, if you come from a heart intelligence perspective and you perceive things, you'll see things that your mind is not privy to by a long shot, you'll see depth of things. You'll see expansion things, you'll see ideas and ways forward that your intellect simply is not designed to see or work with in an intellectual way.

And so having sort of adopted that idea for many years in my own research, I've gained access to a whole bunch of things that I simply would never have done had I have just followed my previous intellectual sort of walking point, if you like. So to get back to the question. So I just wanted a bit, give a bit of contrast to what I'm going to say next, and that is that when you have learned to have gone from intellectual sort of perception and dependence to very heart centered intelligence you start to understand and realize the qualities that start emanating from you when you do that. And it is the qualities of compassion. It is the qualities of unification. It's the qualities of kindness. It's the qualities of insight that are just so profound and deep that I never, like I said before, I never would've been able to do that with just my intellect. And so the more I worked with this, you get this sense that, and when I connect with these beings that are incredibly, I would say, immaculately connected to their heart intelligence, the Source Intelligence that emanates from them wishes to elevate every living thing, but in a way that honors their free will. So they come from that level of intelligence.

They have a love and a wish to assist others because it is just simply their heart intelligence. Now, there are other beings out there that haven't attained that heart intelligence yet, or have deliberately shut it off and don't wish to operate that way. They're the ones that tend to have sort of more gendered approach to things. So I am only interested in those beings that are evolved enough that have the heart intelligence connections. Those are the ones that I work with. And like I said when the more you work with that heart intelligence, the more you just simply innately feel just a call or a state of being within you that wishes to outreach, help assist, and uplift. It's just how that intelligence operates, you know? And so that's why they're doing this. You know, they see. They see the amazing things that are happening here.
And you know they've said many times, there are beings within this galaxy and beyond that we don't even know the names of who are here assisting because they see the powerful potentials of upliftment that are happening here, and it's their excitement and joy to join in and be a part of that so that, those are the groups that I connect with, and that's my experience of how they operate. Now the other part of your question to do with timing. There's no specific timing because this is being modulated. And what they do is they look at humanity's reaction to a series of waves, and if they see that more, a little bit more time for stabilization is needed, they'll allow that within a certain window. If they can accelerate further, if everyone's doing great, like riding the wave effortlessly, they'll ramp it up a little bit further so it's a little bit of a dynamic that goes on. So it's not something that's set in stone, it's more fluid in that way. So I, I can't give you any sort of definitive timeline, so to speak on that.

Guy: No, I appreciate it. I appreciate it. Well, I mean I've done a lot of podcasts over the years and there's a clear conversation that's happening right now that there's shifts that are ultimately going on in this window.
David: Yes.
Guy: And when you come on and, and start speaking to these things, it's like, wow, isn't that interesting? It evokes a curiosity around it all. And you know, when you speak of the heart intelligence, that really resonates with me. because I'm my own living proof of activism, my own heart potential and starting to nurture that in every day. You know, my life looks very differently. I even had Roland McCready from HeartMath Institute on literally last week talking to the science of the heart those things and the interaction with the heart and the Earth's magnetic fields and the solar waves of the Sun. You know, all these have scientifically proven as well, aren't they? You know, it's fascinating. The question that's coming into me, I think would be good to open up as well. Is, what can people expect as these frequencies start to rise then? Because from what I've seen on my own journey is I'm going to sway here, but shit comes up constantly,
David: Right.

Practical Advice for Embracing Change

Guy: And it's probably trauma from this life, trauma from past lives, ancestral things that have come down. I mean, I hold space, I hold retreats, and I've been over the years, slowly been letting all that breathe that energy clear and move, and my connection to my heart and connection to this universal intelligence that's ever a present is more and more prominent, which is a fantastic courage to lean into that and say, that's what I want. You know what? What's going to happen to resist this?
David: Well that's a very good question and I'd love to answer that because, and I was thinking about this, perhaps there's no coincidence that your impulse to ask that, because I was thinking last couple of days, particularly about the scientific mindset having come from a very prominent academic background, working with very, very famous people in institutions. I was going to be an academic physicist and this stuff would've been woo woo to me back then. I was very focused on what I was doing. And it's a funny thing because one of the let's start here.

So as part of this process in humanity and this sort of densification and playing through the game of, what would it be like to have an experience where your heart connection is so diminished that you feel that you're an isolated being that's just walking around trying their best to survive, avoid the walls, avoid the thorns trying to have some assemblage of a fun life.

So that's what humanity has been replaying again and again, lifetime after lifetime. And it's had a lot of very dips very deep tragedies, a lot of traumas that have taken place in our history and it reached such a point of density where the idea of connection or feeling connection was just, what the heck is that everybody it's almost like the larger portion of the population was absolutely adamant that it was just everything's material.

It's just as we see it if you can knock it, it exists. If not, it doesn't and so on. Now having gone through the scientific route and seeing how the scientific mindset and materialistic mindset works, it's a very odd thing because it does interconnect back into sort of control and the fear not to know intellectually as well. But more so than that, when you talked about having your experience of being heart centered yourself.

My experience of going from very head centric to very heart centered was a difficult one because my head was complaining all the time about, oh my God, really? You know, what are people going to say and all that kind of stuff. So it was very unsettled about the idea of a lot of these concepts. Now multidimensionality, a lot of these sort of non-material concepts, these are things you have to experience first before you can have an idea of them. And that's where my frustration was coming in particularly with that coil system I told you about before because I was trying to intellectualize it and it wasn't working.

The Arcturian said, no, you have to first have a perception of this from your heart intelligence. Then you'll understand it because in one way I've heard said before from many different beings is the mind's version of understanding is control. The heart's version of understanding is compassionate experience. So it's a very, very different contrast. Now, I would say that once the mind aligns with the heart center, it loses that paradigm of control or grip to hold onto this. This is solid information. Yada, yada, yada.
Instead it becomes a more fluid, more sort of dynamic expanded mindset, which works in synergy with the heart intelligence. So it's not that you lose intellectual intelligence. No, not at all. It gets better and more expanded and it starts working. Properly the way it's supposed to. Instead of being disconnected and just flapping around doing its own thing, it now works from a core intelligence of profound intelligence that impulses it in ways that are now positive.
Because what we've had at the moment is a human mindset that just keeps looping through past experience again and again. And people think of when they have ideas or it's a new idea. Well, if it's generated from the mind, is it because the mind coalesces past experience, amalgamate it together and gives a new output. So what it's doing is permuting old experience, mulching it together and giving you a new direction. But the core of true creativity and true original conception, if you like, or inception of thought is from the heart intelligence.
When that impulses your mind, then you get a truly new idea in something that's never been done before. And so humanity has been going through this historical looping for a very long time because in my perspective, because of this massive disconnection from the heart intelligence, which has caused it just to keep looping, it's like a stack of cards.
You've got a whole stack of cars. You can spin them around, shuffle the pack as many times as you like, but there's a finite number of shufflings you can before you've exhausted all possibilities. And it's very similar with experience. It's based on this looping of, of historical experience. And so you see repeating patterns happening in people's lives all the time. It's not new, it's just a rehash of the same thing presenting itself in perhaps a slightly different way. But what we are doing as part of this evolutionary ascension process, we are getting the chance to get back into heart consciousness, heart-centered intelligence with a synergy between the mind and heart consciousness, so that now we can truly move the Earth into brand new ways and break the loops of the past and historical energies that have just kept us cycling around the ways that we have been. So I hope that's answered your question there. You may have had some other ones that I've forgotten to answer.

Guy: I'm just interested to see how all this unfolds and how people start to respond to this, if you consciously or unconsciously at what point are they going to stop being open to this and listen and actually listen to the heart, especially when you were sharing that, I don't know if you've got any thoughts about this, but like in Gaia's tradition, the heart is the Earth energy of the heart chakra. And it's like, well, the Earth is the heart chakra of our solar system it. So interestingly, it's shifting the heart, the heart of Gaia.

David: Yes. You know, the toroidal flow aspect is incredibly profound. It is very, very fundamental and like, like you said the Earth has toroidal both magnetic and other toroidal aspects about it, which are very influential to humanity's consciousness and our synergy with the Earth. It's interesting because that's one of the things that I forgot to answer before, because, so we can maybe mesh that in here about how do people make the jump, how do they start moving into, or, or start to, to loosen their grip.

Now it comes back from my perspective, there's many different facets to this, but in a nutshell, there is an old recurring sort of fear to not be in control, and that is a mind based system or a paradigm that people have that they feel keeps them safe. That's one of the difficulties which people experiencing because there are many different levels in your unconscious and subconscious where these control, safety programs are still running and we are not even generally aware of them when they're going, we just know it. Well, we have a reaction to something or we start climbing up or having a bit of a tissy when somebody snaps a key word or something, because there's a lot of that going on right now with people getting very triggered about certain words and things.

To me, I would say that pay attention when you get triggered like that is pointing you towards something that that is within you that has now come to the surface for your attention that you can now release. And the dichotomy or the inversion illusion that people have is they think, oh, you're safer when you're all clammed up and getting ready for defending yourself.
No, you're not. It's the opposite. When you do that, you lower your energetic, your fields contract, and now you suddenly start being susceptible to things which you know may not be in your best interest. So it's one of the things to keep relaxed, keep open, and you'll find out of practice. You can actually be in a room of people shouting directly at you, all sorts of expletives with your energy height, and it just simply does not affect you. It just literally bounces straight off. It can't enter because the energy synergy of you is so high those very dense, low energetic, vibrational forms, they can get no entry.
They can't get into you. But if you contract and you go into defense mode, suddenly you're now coming down and matching that vibration. Now they can start to have more of an effect on you. So that contraction and control and defense mode that people have. I've had that throughout my early part of my lifetime. So I know exactly from experience what that's like.
That doesn't actually help you. It goes the other way. Now, I think that relates to your question about how are people going to open up to this? Well, it's one of the fundamental things my team say to me is it's be playful, be lighthearted. You know, there is no. Better way for a human to be than to be in enjoy and being playfulness because that's the true nature of Source Intelligence. It's literally the quality of Source Intelligence. It's not serious, it's not contracted it is very open, it's flowing, it's dynamic, it's multidimensional. It's all those beautiful qualities that we're, we're always looking for. And when you play with that and you start to emanate and synergize with that, now you start to really elevate yourself. Now you start to expand quite naturally and innately, you know?
So that's what I've found in my experience. And I'm not sure if it's the same for you, but I would say that this is one of the big stumbling blocks that I see for most people right now in terms of acceptance of, and the understanding of what's coming because it's coming regardless of whether people want to jump on the bandwagon or not, but they have a choice always, you know?

Overcoming Triggers and Embracing Heart-Centered Living

So I would say that's the thing, just be very aware of where you are contracting. And if you find yourself contracted, just breathe, relax, get yourself back into joy and laughter, however you find to do that. That's unique to everyone, I think, and just the more you practice that, it will get easier and easier to do very naturally all the time. And then suddenly you'll find yourself not being affected by the silly things that had triggered you off before, whatever that is.

Guy: Oh, we, we have a saying, ‘If you spot it. You got it.’

David: Yes. Exactly, definitely.

Guy: Your triggers are your greatest teachers, that's for sure.

David: Yes. Yes.

Guy: Since I've shifted more into my heart, like my journey's been a life journey like yourself and, and moving in more and more into this heart-centered way of living, relinquishing control, surrender, and trusting the process, trusting that there's, know, something divine working with you as you move forward, especially when you move into this collaborative we approach as opposed to just me. My life has opened up in ways. know it was possible, and it's beautiful and I'm so glad for it. But now that I'm more and more in this space, I can't help but look at the world and think the world's going to bat you crazy, right?

The State of the World and Human Consciousness

And I mean this sincerely, but like you, you look at the wars that are going on, you look at the way behave and the way the systems are set up, all these old structures, and the way media is just constantly bombarding fear. ‘If it bleeds, it leads’ and everything feels like it. I don't know if we hear by accident, just through human behavior or there's intentionality behind it, I just keep asking the question why? Why?

David: Right.

Guy: I mean? I don't know if you've got any words of wisdom on this, but it's just boggles my mind these days.

Understanding Darkness and Source Intelligence

David: Yes, no, I'd love to. I think it's a very, very good question and I think it's very important to answer.

And so what I would say is this, that during humanity's sort of call it devolution, densification, whatever you want to call it, down into density now. What we are experiencing. Let's start with this, and I'll go into more detail. What we're experiencing right now is the dissolution or the dissolving of all the unconscious unknown we have hidden inside us, and, and the subconscious as well dissolving up and opening up so it can come back into consciousness. So everything is fully conscious and known again.

So people talk about darkness or things like that. Well, really that's just energy where light hasn't entered yet and it's the unknown. Now what happens is, for example, one of the beings said before that. The in from the mind's eye, that which is appears to have a lack of Source Intelligence in it appears dark. So Source Intelligence isn't handling flowing dynamically, growing, supporting, and evolving that particular form of energetic.

So it looks to you in your mind's eye as dark. That's what darkness is, but as soon as light comes into it or Source Intelligence in it, suddenly it starts glowing and luminescent. That is light. And so what's happening is because if humanity has had such a level of, what would it be like to have a lack of Source Intelligence within your experience, the dark ages all those kind of things. This is all the result of a lack of connection with Source Intelligence that's coming back now, but as it comes back, all the energetics we have created while experiencing lack of Source connection, the density, the negativity, the. The hatred, the anger, the volatility, the conflict you mentioned about wars. All of that is just dissolving as it comes out as the Source Intelligence that grows within us is dissolving it away and bringing it back into harmonization. And so we are seeing it as it comes out and those thought forms, which can behave a little bit like entities that have thrived on humanities constantly pumping out negativity or hatred or anger of.

The Shift to Heart-Centered Civilization

Of any form that's now stopping the faucets being, or the tappers being turned off because instead of generating those polarity energetics, we are now moving back to a civilization that is heart-centered, where we do not generate that kind of energetic, and so it's all disappearing. And so energetic forms, thought forms or whatever you want to call them that are dependent on that as to survive are kicking up a fuss. As they dissolve away and dissolve away, they will because it's one thing I say to people, well, think about it.

Lots of steps have been taken to try and get humanity to be in fear or to be in low energetics. Why? It’s because when you're there, you generate that. You just pump it out. Now if you stop doing that, say, no, I'm not doing the fear game anymore. I'm just on a heart-centered path. I'm going to start producing and emanating Source Intelligence. Now you're not producing that level of energetic again, the environment around you starts to change because now you are emanating Source Intelligence and now suddenly conflicts start to dissipate. The negativity in different situations you might have experienced starts to dissipate because Source Intelligence is now organizing things in an intelligent, compassionate, kind, loving way. It's very different from control. It's control is a very shabby and poor alternative to so intelligence, let's put it that way. And so that's what we are seeing. We are literally seeing millennia upon millennia of old stagnant energy that has been stuck within the Earth grids within the Earth's body itself, within us as human beings.

It's all being cleared out now. And so we will see that as it comes out. So it's very close to being fully cleared now. So the bulk of it has been done. But it does look like always just falling to pieces. And this is the other part. It will look like that because you have to remember, so many of the societal systems that we have in place are built on the very energetic of the old systems, the old energies we used to produce that the level of which we are producing as old energies has gone so down through the floor and Source Intelligence coming up through the floor and raising up. Those so old systems can't function properly. They are literally lashing out, flapping around, and scrapping for survival because everything that used to be of humanity, supporting it by emanating the very energetics that it was based on, we're not doing that anymore. Some people still are to a certain degree, but massively overall. We are largely stopping that and changing to Source Intelligence living, and so those systems are going to fall down. It's just an inevitability.

Guy: Yes, because you only have to look at those systems and they clearly are not set up with everyone in mind.
David: No,
Guy: Like, do you know what I mean? Like somebody is benefiting from the systems way more than others. It's not like set up for the people and for us all to thrive in an environment. Please.
David: Oh, sorry, just sorry. I didn't mean to interrupt there, but you raised a point that I think is really good to maybe explain here. It's to do with parasitation versus living internally from your own Source consciousness. So for a long, long time, certain groups of beings who had no access, who some of them had deliberately tried to shut down their own Source connection. Now they've lost access to the Source well inside them. So where do they get their energy from?
They have to get it from others now. So they become parasitic in nature. And so a lot of the societal structures that we have are based on people behaving parasitically. Taking from others, misbehaving in all sorts of ways. Now, one of the things that my team's described to me is when humanity comes back into Source, energetic connection in the heart intelligent field system, the well of infinite energy of possibility of all things creativity, open up to you again.
You no longer need to get from others, you no longer need to get from outside of you. You become a self-sovereign, self-sustaining, living energy being. That is a massively different paradigm for being in what we have been, which is sucker, parasite you know, and all versions of that in between as well. So that's what we're moving out to. I thought it just worth mentioning that when you cause it.
Guy: It makes me think of even things like activism and throwing rocks at different things that you want to see gone and don't like. You're just constantly pushing up against and creating an environment an energy that continues to feed the cycle as opposed to yourself first and becoming that heart centered.

David: Yes. definitely. This, to me is the very core, key thing, and it's what the Arcturian said to me many times. The key is absolutely your connectivity and how much connectivity you have with your core Source. In Source Intelligence, which is each of us has a direct connection with the Source field, the Source Intelligence field, and that's starting to come back online in humanity en masse now, and these waves, this assistance is all about that.

It's about giving humanity the choice. Hey, if you choose to live as a Source Intelligence being your entire world is going to change in ways you cannot even fathom. You don't have to take action. You don't have to stand in groups and protest and do X, Y, Z.

It will all happen quite naturally because when you emanate that energy, that energy starts transforming your environment in alignment with the emanation you are giving off. So if you are emanating stuckness, anger, conflict, all those other things, it's what you're going to get. That's what you literally reshape your environment to be. And so we are emanating and that's a very profound thing for us to understand as human beings, that we, what we emanate is very important to keep an eye on. In a sense it's very important to make sure that you are emanating the energy that you actually want to experience and not let yourself drop down into hate, anger, conflict, whatever it is.

That's a key thing. It's all about self-responsibility and, and the word response able or responsible is, are you able to respond wisely to a situation and say, you know what? I don't like that energy very much. What, how am I emanating to create, oh, I see it now. I see where that is. I can change that. Lift that up. Now I'm not, I'm emanating a different signal now, a different energy. Now I'm going to get a different response. Everything is going to change. And I think that is the beautiful simplicity of, for me and my perspective, how it works is that. Change the emanation you're giving off. If you don't like what's coming back as a request from your emanation that you're giving off. It's really that simple.

Manifestation and Emanation

Guy: I remember the old, it's making me think of the Wayne Dyer quote. He would say, you got to flip the paradigm from, we've been conditioned to have the things that we need to do to, to then do the things we want to do, then become the person we want to be. That's the old paradigm. And he's like, no, you have to be the person first. You emanate. It's the being. And then you do, and then you are that emanation you said, isn't it?

David: I believe so. And this is one of the frustrations that a lot of people have. I was on another podcast not too long ago, and there was a lady on there who was, said she was a retired manifester because she got so frustrated with trying to manifest and she couldn't get things to work. And I said, I feel that the reason is because manifestation is actually quite a natural consequence of emanating. When you emanate things reshape themselves around you.

But can you match the emanation that you would be to gain, to have the experience of what it is that you want to experience? Can you match that? But if you can't. It's not going to materialize because you can't put out the request for it properly. The universe is listening to your broadcast, your energy. You know, the quantum field morphs to the energy you produce, and so if you can't produce the energy that you are looking for, that will enable a certain experience. It won't come about. So you, it really is down to us. We are the powerhouses. We simply have to understand how to change our energy state, our emanation in order to be in the experience that we want to be.

And so for a long time certain groups have done, have gone out of their way to try and install all sorts of looping programs, self-defeating programs into humanity to get you to create and emanate self-defeating. You know, to step in your way to have things go wrong and so you get frustrated, you get tied up in all sorts of things.

And those are just programs. They're not your real emanation. And this is part of also what's coming out and why people have these ascension symptoms and things that they feel. It's all the yuck, all the old cycling program stuff that is not going to serve you or help you breaking down and coming out.

Now, here's the key that they said to me. This is when it's so important to be relaxed and enjoy and playfulness, because if you react to it and go into grip, you're going to hold it in place and you won't let it go. So these waves are naturally trying to move this off you, and it will.

But you just have to ride through it and say, you know what? I feel kind of crappy right now. That's okay. It's just stuff moving. Let it go, let it move, and within a matter of time it'll be gone and I'll be a lot higher in state. My emanation is going to change and now I can move a step further in the direction I want to go.
Guy: Yes, I love it because that feels to me then very practical, grounded, and, and allowing us to get on and enjoy, embrace our life in the moments, because the human condition is very easy to get caught up in, even in these conversations and go, wow, everything's going to change.
David: Right,
Guy: And we hook into it and then it becomes an external thing, something outside of ourselves, and it's distracted us, the emanation and the shifts that we actually, the work that we should be doing the work on is within ourselves to be clearing.
David: Yes,
Guy: Like it happens all the time.
David: Yes, and it's like a lighthouse. And another way of making a grounded analogy is if a lighthouse has its lens covered in mud. How on Earth can it emanate a pure signal that's going to be helpful to ships outside of it? In other words how can you be of service to other people properly and how can you generate the light environment that you're looking for when your lens is just covered with crap, you know? So that's kind of an analogous way of seeing what we are doing. We are literally clearing off crud of lifetime after lifetime, trauma, emotional charge, faulty paradigm, belief systems. I mean, there's so many different words that you can use to describe this stuff. We're clearing off that so we can become a very powerful, pure emanate of Source Intelligence.
And you wait to see, I mean, these beings that, that have this emanation, they literally simply when they're on a vessel for example, they'll simply just collectively say. We are going to this galaxy and they're gone. You know, that's. The power of the emanation and the symbiosis with how every, the reality is made up or the levels of reality are made up that they have, they don't use electronic tech to do it.

It's living conscious technology and it's them that is doing it. It's not an external thing, and that's very important to understand. So self-mastery in my, in my way of thinking is, is as simple as cleaning off your lens so you can emanate properly because until you do. You know, it's like going to a cinema. A pure light comes out of the projector, but if you've got film going in front of it, which has got all sorts of awful imagery on it, that's what you're going to see.
The film has to change, and the film is clearing away from your lens. Faulty beliefs, old energies, old angers, stagnant hate, guilt, shame, all of that stuff. None of that helps you. It's all mud on the lens, which filters your projective, emanations, and distorts it into what you experience in your life. So that's what has to change, and that, to me, is very fundamental.
Guy: Wow. does one, I just, I think there's been a nice way to bring the tail end of the podcast in, but connect to their team or a team or their guides and things. I've noticed, like I was speaking of air on my journey, the more I've been clearing, the more my field's clear.
And then when I intentionally go to that space, I can feel different presences. And it's a vastly different experience to my, condition, five senses experience, you know? But how have you found it when you started connecting to non-physical or if they are physical, but not showing themselves, I don't know. But what has been your approach to this and I think people would be fascinated by it.

Connecting with Higher Self and Energetic Beings

David: Yes, definitely. I mean, my approach is always the higher self or that core self that we are bringing forward as we clear things out of us. You know, it's the core intelligence, the expression of us, which goes through multidimensional bands of energetics, back to Source Intelligence. It's all the higher self. You know, I know people have different ways of describing it but to me it's, the nested field of living intelligence that goes all the way back to Source within us.
Now, that to me is our greatest ally, our greatest friend because it knows us inside and out. It knows exactly what our path is. It knows exactly what we need next in our step in order to grow, in order to clear, in order to expand.

So I always say from my perspective that the most important being to connect to, is your higher self. And you can do that very simply. The one thing that they always do when they do activations and meditations are they ask people to do what they call rhythmic breathing.
So your breathing system, your lung system is around your heart center and it is very interrelated into your heart opening and how your heart energetics work. Your heart field systems work and they describe rhythmic breathing as being the most important, rhythmic breathing that brings you the most relaxation and joy.
So it could be as shallow or as deep as fast or as slow it doesn't have to be this big gulping deep breath when you're stretching your body out. None of that. It's a rhythm that you play with and you start feeling the sweet spot that is your rhythm at that particular time, and it can change.
So when you find that sweet spot of breathing, okay, that's the rhythmic, that is the most synergistic breathing right now that can help you connect with the heart center. Now, once you've got that breathing rhythm going, then you ask your higher self to infuse itself into you, into your body and what the Source Intelligence and the guides that do these meditations into your heart, your cells.
You might let it flood you. Just feel the synergizing, and then you can just feel that and you can even ask your higher self to help you bridge into and connect better with your high self. Now, the more you connect with your high self, the greater your perceptibility, you'll start having expanded perception of things. You'll start to feel things more dear.
It's quite natural because your high self has those abilities, and now you are getting access to them because you are synergizing with your higher self. And one of the things when I connect to like the Arcturians and other beings is what they always invite me to feel their energy.
So I know energetically who I'm dealing with and as you practice working with your higher self, that energy sensitivity is going to evolve as well.

So you, for example, when somebody's talking to you and they're talking BS but they're saying in such a way that sounds so like, oh wow, what a what an amazing guy. But really they're being deceptive. You'll feel that energetically because you can't hide your energy, you can't hide your emanation. You can say as many beautiful words as you'd like. You can't bullshit somebody with energy and a fun way of saying it. It just is impossible.
So when you feel someone's energy and you get a feel of it, you understand who you are dealing with, what their intentions are and what it is that they're wishing to do. It's a very important thing to do. So I would say when you work with your higher self in that way, your higher self is going to help you get a better feel for energetically what it is you're doing, who you're working with, what choice might lead you down a difficult path, what choice will be.
Yes, that'll be a great one. That will really bring you a lot of joy, a lot of expansion, so your high self knows all of the ins and outs there. So I'd say that that's sort of connective point number one. And when you get used to working with your high self, connecting with high dimensional beings is very straightforward because your high self is already at those levels.
So your high self will effortlessly be able to connect with these different beings, bring them to you and say, oh, hey, this is such and such a race, or such and such a being. They would like I would you be willing to connect with them. Yes or no? because your high self doesn't over rule your free will either. So you have to be very active and a participant in this whole process. So yes, that's how it's worked for me and it's been just a beautiful process all the way through in doing that.
Guy: I guess it's through the subtleties, it's learning to distinguish what's just the thought in the mind, but what's actually emanating from something beyond the conscious mind and then interpreting that data, isn't it, at the end of the day.
David: Yes. Well, the way it comes to me is that it's, I call it a quantum snapshot. So you get this energy impression, because our minds are linear. They, they like to linearize things out into sequence.

But in the quantum world, it doesn't work like that because time doesn't operate the way that we think it does. It's every time a no time, it's all space and no space at the same time.
It gets very confusing to a linear sequence mode of operation. So when you get it, it's like you then have to just feel the energies and let them open up and present themselves to you in what appears to be a sort of sequence of ideas or concepts and so forth.
So it's a little bit of a trick. It's a beautiful art form for a human being to learn that multidimensional interpretation, encoding, or deciphering, or understanding of energies as they come to you, so to speak. But as always my team says be playful with it. It's okay to make a mistake because you're learning, you're remembering how to do this. It's not a big deal but it should be fun and then it is always a key thing. If you find yourself doing any of this outside of fun, you're heading in the wrong direction in my view.

Bridging Science and Spirituality

Guy: Yes. Fantastic. Thank you. That's really helpful. And you know, last question for you, what was coming to me is from your academic background. Do you keep in touch with any of them? Do they like, because what I love about you, you speak so openly and honestly and from the heart, David, like it really just shines and you're speaking about deep, esoteric conversations, but with your knowledge, it just all makes sense if that but then people in the old paradigm, in the old world. We're not even, probably not even aware of this, you know? I was just curious because you would've had to have stepped off that at one point. Right?
David: Yes. Yes. You know, that's a lovely question as well. There's a couple of things I'd like to say to that. First of all, a friend of mine from Oxford when he was doing a PhD at the same time as me, reached out to me because I believe his wife was listening to one of the people I'd interviewed with and said, oh, I thought, I know that guy. I lived with that guy. He free, you know? And so he reached out and it's interesting because it was quite a blast from the past chatting with him and, and he was saying the same thing.
He said, you're really brave for coming out and doing this. And I said, well. I guess in a way, the way I felt that was, well, it's just simply truth to me. And I can't feel but do anything, but just say the truth that comes sometimes my mind might take a role and start to hold things back because then I have to say no. No, just, it's fine. Just let it roll. It's okay, but the one thing that is going to be probably a big answer to your question here, is that I was thinking about that connection between my scientific past and science community in general and the spiritual community in general. And my highest self came in and said, well, Source Intelligence is the master physicist. It's the master chemist, it's the master artist, the master poet.

It's the master of everything. So where, where is the boundary? And so, but what it got me thinking of is that we've always been so used to thinking of scientific camp, spiritual camp, but the truth is the creator is behind all of them. You know?

And if you go too much into intellectual stuff, you miss all the heart intelligence. And if you go too much into being, sort of into the spiritual side of things you might miss out on being the applicator of things as well. So there's a beautiful synergy between having, like I said, the impulse of profound heart intelligence that comes through, that you can then apply as a human being in the real world. So, in truth when you connect with the heart intelligence, you are becoming the master physicist, the master chemist, the master artist, the master, everything.

So there is no boundary there anymore. I thought that was like a real eureka moment. I thought that's is beautiful. That's so cool. because that's exactly how it is, you know?

Guy: I just raised it at, at the end, I just felt an impulse to ask you and now I know why. That was perfect, mate. I think that's a great way to end the podcast. Where can people get hold of you, David, if they want to find out more about your work and everything that you're doing.

Conclusion and Resources

David: Sure. We have a few websites, so I'm pretty sure you'll put the links to them, but https://www.isee-infynergy.com/ is where we produce multidimensional devices, which the teams help us create for doing harmonization of environmental spaces, all the things to do with regular life activities. The other one we have is to do with the meditations and activations. So Source Intelligence are asked to bring these activations through to help people connect and bridge into the Sacred Heart, the Infinity Point, which is a direct gateway to Source Intelligence itself.

All of the meditations up to 15 and many after that are free to watch on our Patreon channel. We do charge for the personal ones now because it's a paid for platform now. So that just helps us keep the platform going. It also supports my research work as well, because behind the scenes I do a lot of research work and developing things should we say, which will be coming soon. So there's the Patreon channel, which is www.patreon.com/InfiniteSourceCreations. We also have a website, https://infinitesourcecreations.com/ which has a lot of other information including links to those meditations as well. So you can find it all on there. And yes, just have fun.
Guy: Amazing. David, look, thank you so much for coming back on. It is always wonderful to connect with you and I always get a lot out of it when we share time together, so it's, deeply appreciated, mate. Thank you.
David: Yes, it's an honor. Thank you for asking me back on, and it's been great fun doing this, and I wish you and all of your audience, the just a beautiful experience, the most loving and fun-filled experience going forward, and hope you enjoyed this information.
Guy: Yes, thanks again. Cheers.